Bitter Enders Win Point in Subsidy Fight

FORCE RECESS ON SENATORS BY FILIBUSTER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The Senate recessed at 11:37 o'clock tonight after a tedious twelve-hour filibustering session in which no progress was made on the administration ship subsidy bill.

Republican leaders were forced to abandon their threat of a continuous session when Democratic long-distance orators showed little signs of weakening as the midnight hour approached.

Senator Jones of Washington, sponsoring the bill, moved the recess, after a whispered conference with Senator Robinson of Arkansas, during the second lap of a speech by Senator Reed of Missouri. Jones declared with a smile, he feared the Missouri was getting tired, as his voice was not so melodious as usual, and it was not desired to keep veterans Senators up all night.

HAD STRONG BATTERY

When the Senate shut up shop for the night the Democrats had several relatively young Senators and a great mass of documentary material, estimated to constitute approximately seventy-two hours of speaking time. They were determined to carry the fight through a continuous session running to noon of March 4—276 hours from midnight tonight—if necessary.

That would smother every known filibustering record. That it would not be possible is revealed by the difficulty of maintaining a quorum.

By attempting to hold the Senate in continuous session, administration leaders were hopeful of wearing out the Democratic lung power, but the contest was proving much more serious to the Republicans than they had anticipated.

VETERANS GET TIRED

Veteran Republicans follow the rule of early to bed for health if not Senatorial wisdom. Younger members have party engagements aplenty. Quorums are all but impossible of maintenance, when an administration majority is so slender.

Believing the nub of the fight lay in the controversy over the Madden amendment, adopted by the House to require annual subsidy appropriations by Congress, a quiet movement was afoot to arrange a vote on the Senate Commerce Committee's proposal to eliminate that provision.

The committee recommendation would remove the subsidy appropriations from the province of any future Congress. Knowing the temper of the next Senate and House, the administration would rather have no bill at all than a subsidy authorization for a year which would not aid the merchant marine. The certainty of future denial of funds.

ATOMIC LIQUOR IS SAFE

Hughes Involes Shades of Queen Anne so Admirators Don't Have to Tell Capacities

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

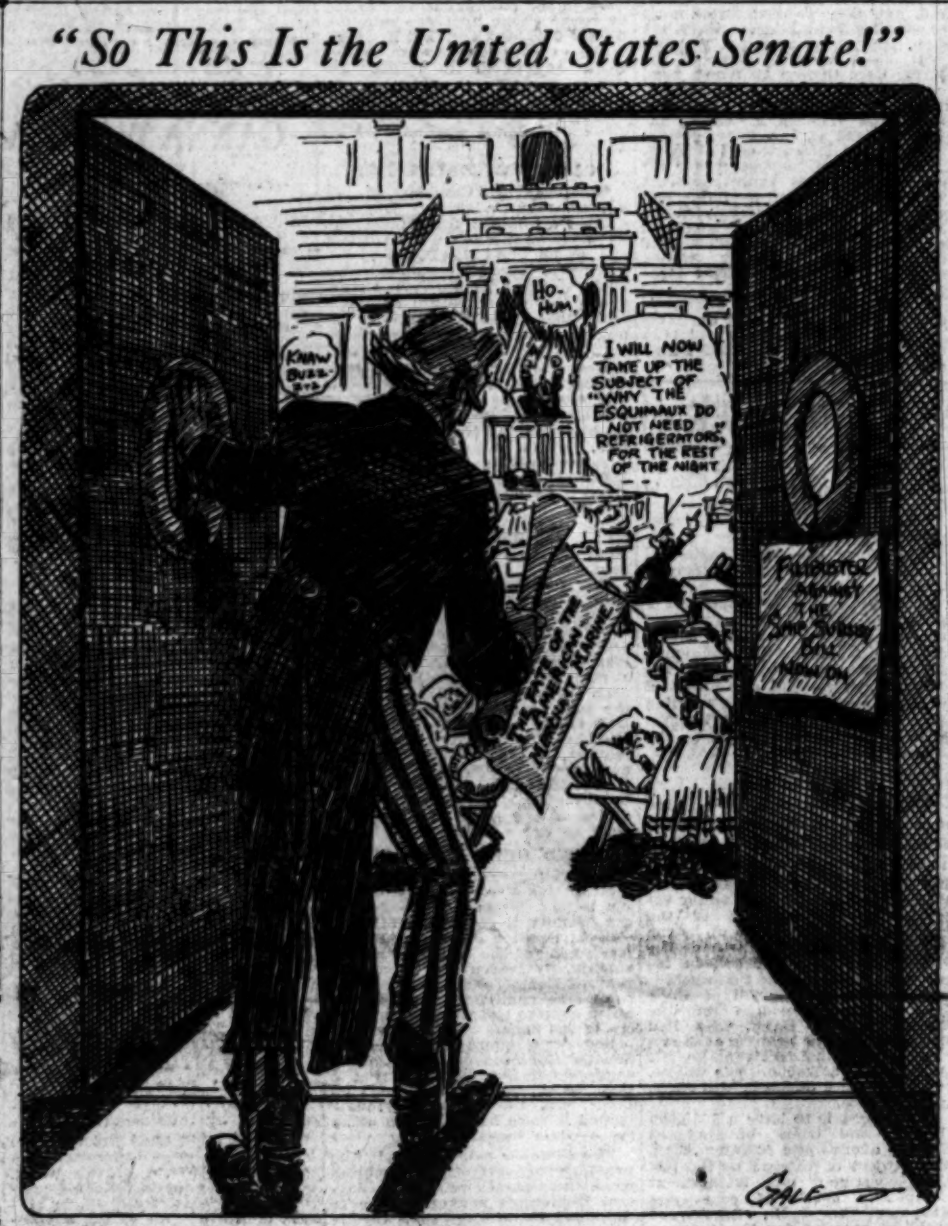

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The game of "tag" which the legislative branch of the government have been playing with their bill on atomic liquor imports and just what they total tonight.

Mr. Hughes, Secretary of the Treasury, and Mr. Crampton, of the War Department, are the main players in the game. The bill, which would allow the importation of atomic liquor, is the subject of a long and bitter fight.

CAPACITIES ARE SECRET

The early framers of United States law thought the idea such a good one that they incorporated it into the Constitution. It is there now, Mr. Hughes told Mr. Crampton and Mr. Mellon, and he insisted that it could not be considered that Congress had a right to ask the representative of a foreign country anything so impossible as to how much or what he drank.

The next move is up to the House, which started the game. The Judiciary Committee originally reported the bill, but Mr. Mellon told them about diplomatic liquor consumption. Mr. Hughes said he did not have the information. Mr. Mellon said he did, but did not feel at liberty to divulge it.

IRISH RAID WAR HERO'S RESIDENCE

Gen. French's Place at Drumcondra Is Stripped of Its Furnishings

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

DUBLIN, Feb. 20.—The residence of Field Marshal The Earl of Ypres at Drumcondra, County Roscommon, was raided last night. The members of the raiding gang removed the costly furniture, completely stripping the interior of the house and carried off their loot in carts.

The Earl of Ypres, then Field Marshal Sir John French, was commander of the British expeditionary forces in France from the outbreak of the World War in 1914 until 1916, when he relinquished command to Field Marshal Haig. From 1916 to 1918 he was commander of the forces in the United Kingdom and from 1918 to 1921 was Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. He was made a Viscount in 1915 and created the Earl of Ypres in 1921.

Mrs. Charlotte Despard, a sister of the Earl, is an ardent Sinn Féin and woman suffragist. She has been a speaker at numerous Sinn Féin demonstrations and otherwise has been active in behalf of the organization. Early in the present year she sent a cable dispatch to a woman friend in the United States asking President Harding's intervention in behalf of Republican prisoners in Ireland and was among the signers of the protest to the League of Nations against executions in Ireland.

New York Jury Will Quiz Head of Dry League

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Acting District Attorney Pecora today announced he would place before the grand jury charges against William H. Anderson, State superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, connecting him with asserted irregularities in the conduct of the league's financial affairs.

Mr. Pecora made the announcement in a letter to Anderson's counsel, informing him that he considered it his duty to present to the grand jury the findings of his inquiry into Anderson's financial relations with the league. He expected, he said, to go before the grand jury on Friday.

GANNA'S SINGING SCORED

Detroit Critic Reviewing Concert Says All Qualities Lacking for Operatic Career

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

DETROIT (Mich), Feb. 20.—If truth must be recorded the operatic and concert career of Mme. Ganna Walska in this country is doomed to failure. The ambition of the Polish singer, wife of Harold McCormick, the harvester king, and his millions may carry her some distance on her recital tour, but the measure of her artistic accomplishments will be nil.

Making her second appearance in this country, trying out public feeling in the provinces before essaying a New York, Boston or Chicago debut, Mme. Walska gave a program in Orchestra Hall Tuesday evening. She had the assistance of Max Kaplick, baritone, and of Mme. Jeanne Krieger accompanist.

Desires for an operatic career presupposes as the foundation vocal talent of unusual order. Mme. Walska's voice is not even of pleasing quality or of a type which would entitle her to an operatic addition, if she did not have influence to gain a hearing. Her voice is a kind of "Porgi Amor" which the singer is unable to keep the pitches, she displays incorrect breath control and most faulty tone production. Her voice is "white," lacking resonance and there is not the semblance of warmth or temperament. Her notes are shrill and forced and nowhere in her work does the singer give the impression of a reserve force to call upon. Rather throughout the program there was every evidence of a mechanical following of the correct or truly artistic kind. That Mme. Walska is in earnest, valiantly striving to reach her ambition, is clearly evident, but nature at the start has endowed her with neither the vocal power nor the keen intelligence to ease her program.

The entire program at least had the merit of being short. She sang the Oria of Constantine from Mozart's "L'Enlevement au Serail" and the same composer's "Air de Blondine," and an air "Porgi Amor" from "Nozze di Figaro," but there was not the flexibility requisite for the interpretation of this composer's works. There was also "Dans le Forest" and Strauss's "Voici le Printemps" and for a finale the duet for baritone and soprano from "Rigoletto."

Upon Mme. Walska's arrival in Detroit this morning—in an ordinary Pullman sleeper, by the way—she was met at the station by a taxi to a hotel, refused to accept a suite reserved for her.

ROBBERS ISOLATE VILLAGE

Illinois Townspeople See Two Autoloids of Bandits Wreck Bank Safe

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—A bandit raid, reminiscent of the exploits of Jesse James and his band, off the little town of Easton, Ill., near Peoria, from the rest of the world today.

The raiders, in two automobiles, cut all telephone and telegraph wires and then blasted the safe of the Farmers State Bank, carrying off $40,000 in currency.

The explosion was terrific. It awakened the entire village of 500 persons. Part of the safe was blown through a wall of the bank building into a structure next door.

It was pitch dark and they could see nothing but the repeated flashes as the bandits put five successive charges of nitroglycerin in the safe.

The raid occurred at 2 o'clock this morning, but Sheriff W. F. Close of Mason county was not notified for nearly five hours, when a runner brought word of the theft.

A safety-deposit vault was untouched. It was believed the bandit crew sought $40,000 in bonds, which were sent to Peoria today.

Armed bandits stood in the streets while the safe was being blown, but villagers offered no interference and there was no shooting. Sheriff Close and Deputy E. W. Oswald were unable to find anyone who could identify the two automobiles or their occupants.

LITHUANIAN AND POLES IN BATTLE; RUSS TAKE HAND

KOVNA, Feb. 20.—Two hundred persons have been killed and wounded in the fighting between the Poles and Lithuanians since Saturday over the occupation of the neutral zone. Since the first clash on Saturday, when the Poles began to occupy the part of the neutral zone assigned to them by the League of Nations, in which ten were killed and many wounded, there has been continuous fighting, although there has been no declaration of war. The fighting has been entirely unofficial.

So far the irregular warfare has been carried on between the Polish frontier guards and Lithuanians, although there have been some regular troops in action on both sides.

The Lithuanian organizations have been largely financed from America.

Lithuanian regulars on Sunday captured two British officers attached to the British mission at Warsaw who have been investigating official conditions in the neutral zone. They were held until today when they were found by the British Consul.

Gen. Carl De Wiat and Maj. E. H. Grant have been released, but two Polish staff officers acting as their interpreters are held prisoners of war at Kovna.

The Lithuanians claim that they have captured forty Polish officers and hundreds of soldiers from the Seventy-sixth Polish division. They also admit that artillery is used.

claiming it consists of field guns captured from the Poles by patriotic organizations.

Mendapies Martius, a Lithuanian-American, who organized the Memei coup, died of typhus today. Martius was a veteran of the Spanish-American war and he died kissing the American flag which he always carried with him.

Bonar Law Tells Liberals Britain Cannot Get Out Now; Denies Question of Oil Involved

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The House of Commons, by a vote of 273 to 147, this afternoon rejected an amendment to the address of the King offered by George Lambert, Liberal, urging drastic curtailment of Great Britain's responsibility in Mesopotamia.

Prime Minister Bonar Law, in answering his Liberal critic's advocacy of the British clearing out of Mesopotamia, spoke rather sympathetically of the idea of reducing the country's commitments there, but contended that nothing could be done pending the completion of a peace treaty with Turkey.

Lambert's amendment reflected the strong views of the Liberal and Labor parties in favor of evacuating Mesopotamia.

Former Premier Asquith, supporting the amendment, said Great Britain had spent £150,000,000 in Mesopotamia since the armistice without any tangible result. It was the worst investment of British money in modern times.

He formerly had advocated withdrawal of British troops from Mesopotamia, but now he would not even advocate the retention of that place.

He urged the government once for all to quit all responsibilities in that part of the world.

Bonar Law, while agreeing with much said by Lambert and Asquith, declared that England was not responsible for being in Mesopotamia and that "we are certainly not un-der any obligation to withdraw."

MUMMY TO BE LEFT IN OWN TOMB?

Carnarvon Proposes Making Wax Model for Curious in Cairo Museum

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

CAIRO, Feb. 20.—Lord Carnarvon has announced his intention of leaving undisturbed for a few months the mummified remains of Tutankhamun within the tomb of the pharaoh, who died in 1325 B.C., in the Valley of the Kings, near Thebes.

Pharaoh's tomb, which was discovered in 1922, has been the scene of a great deal of controversy. Some people believe that the mummy should be left in its tomb, while others believe that it should be moved to a museum.

Lord Carnarvon, who is the owner of the tomb, has decided to leave the mummy in its tomb for a few months. He has proposed making a wax model of the mummy for the Curious in the Cairo Museum.

MORE GERMANS EXPELLED

French Determined to Clear Ruhr of Trouble Makers; Railway Officials Are Imprisoned

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

DUESSELDORF, Feb. 20.—The French, determined to rid the Rhineland and the Ruhr of German officials who are suspected of being troublemakers, have announced the expulsion of numerous officials from various parts of the occupied areas.

The German people and their newspapers declare that French measures antagonistic to the populace will only serve to increase resistance and heighten up the German cause. The more expulsions, they say, the greater the determination to stick it out.

BURGOMASTER KICKED OUT

The latest official to be expelled is Burgomaster Kotten of Dueseldorf, who was escorted by French soldiers into unoccupied Germany. He was ousted because of his refusal to carry out Gen. Degoutte's orders and publish his proclamations. Kotten's expulsion has created a greater furor than the arrest of Dr. Gruetzmeyer on Saturday. Both of these officials have established themselves at Elberfeld and will direct the official activities from that place.

The situation in Dueseldorf is growing more tense, owing to the increased activities of the German leaders and a protest strike is now on, led by postal employees, who

CITY OF DEAD

LONDON, Feb. 20.—A Dortmund dispatch to the Times describes Gelsenkirchen as "a city of the dead." The stores, cafes, theaters and motion-picture houses are closed and the streets deserted from 7 o'clock in the evening until 7 in the morning because of the boycott, which caused the French to attempt the seizure of commodities.

Every public building is occupied by the troops and protected with pointed bayonets. Warnings are posted that the inhabitants are not to leave their homes.

The line and limitations laid down by the League.

Poland carried out the mandate to take possession of that part of the neutral zone exclusively with the aid of police and two battalions of customs guards who took up their duties along the new line of demarcation.

"By her procedure, which consisted in using only administrative officials and not soldiers, Poland had wished to prove her peaceful intentions in the fullest sense of the word."

Today, however, I have to call attention to attacks by detachments of regular Lithuanian troops on the Polish police and customs guards. On the Polish side the losses so far suffered in this action have been ten killed and sixteen wounded.

"Attempts to attribute to these incidents the character of regular military engagements have been made consciously by the Lithuanians in order to give the impression that the Polish action, which is legally justified, and is based on international authority, signifies the beginning of a turn of war in eastern Europe."

"It is evident that Poland cannot tolerate any war frontiers, a state of affairs which would humiliate her."

"If Lithuania's policy and exclusively that, will be responsible for further events which she has provoked, I cannot understand."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The American reply to the British communication in the Newcastle

Consulate case has been forwarded by mail to Ambassador Harbo in London for presentation to the British Foreign Office. It was announced today by State

Department officials who explained that pending arrival in London, the text would not be made public.

There is reason to believe that the communication reaffirms the position taken by the Washington government at the time the Con-sulate was ordered closed, and when charges had been made by the British Foreign office alleging improper exercise of authority by

Consular Officers Brooks and Elder.

At that time the exequatur of the two officers were cancelled by the British government on the basis of the charges that they had discriminated against British shipping interests by persuading travelers to patronize American ships.

After three separate investigations of the charges had been made by direction of the State Department, the Washington government held that the allegations were, in the opinion of its officials, without basic fact and the British Foreign

Office was advised that the Con-sulate would be kept closed until later and Brooks had been publicly exonerated.

Whole Veterans' Hospital Situation to be Gone Over,
Before Construction Work Will Begin

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Gen. Sawyer, chairman of the hospitalization committee dealing with all hospitals for the benefit of World War veterans today told Congressmen Lindeberger that the entire hospital situation so far as it related to the treatment of tubercular patients of the World War would be completely reinvestigated before any construction work would be authorized at Livermore where a tubercular hospital was originally planned to be erected.

Investigation of the method by which this hospital site was chosen,

shows that of eight members of the committee, only three were present when the site was selected—

Col. Forbes, Gen. Ireland of the War Department and Dr. Cummings, head of the Public Health Service.

Col. Patterson and Maj. Crane

were advised to these three men and had made a preliminary survey of the hospital site before the committee met to make a final decision on the site. The committee was taking care of the tubercular veterans of the World War were concerned.

Other important members of the committee were not present

when the Livermore site was chosen,

and they want to know more about the transaction. They are

Gen. Sawyer, chairman; Admiral

Stitt, chief medical officer of the Navy; and William A. White, chief of the District of Columbia.

Congressman Lindeberger has arranged to supply the members of the committee with information

as to the situation at Livermore,

and will welcome such information

as individuals or organizations can supply. The committee will further facilities for tubercular service men and the best available locations for such service.

Before any further action is taken, and as soon as all the facts are at hand, Gen. Sawyer will take the entire matter up with President Harding.

SENATE HOSTILE
TO RIVER PACT

Arizona Upper House Proves Disappointment

Friends of Ratification in Strong Statements

Republican Member Exposes
Opposition's Stand

PHOENIX, Feb. 20.—Though the supporters of the Colorado River pact have been confident in their claims of a majority vote in the Senate, the opposition won first blood this afternoon and appears to be well entrenched for the morning, when the matter is to be decided. President Winsor was floor leader for the proponents and Simms for the opposition.
The latter put through a motion for consideration of the House resolution on the subject. Instead of the St. Charles Senate resolution this action was taken by a vote of 19 to 9, with the pact opposition
mustering Claypool, Colter, Cornick, Elliot, Hayhurst, Kimball, Kinney,
Roberts, Rutherford, and Simms.
After this jockeying for position,
speechmaking filled the afternoon
till late adjournment was taken.
St. Charles urged unity of intermountain in State action and the turning of deaf ears to "lawyers, who grab off the stuff, leaving the States to smash each other's faces."

"TRUST" ATTACKED
He declared it a fight between the great power trust and the people and warned his colleagues that failure to ratify it would mean disaster for Democracy at the next State election.

Phillips, the only Republican Senator, made a lawyerlike statement, declaring the power-royalty suggestion something that apper-tains solely to Arizona and therefore is far outside the pact. The Legislature, he said, had no authority to draw a pact or to modify one. It simply could accept or reject. Elimination of the Gila River was an odd move, for the Gila is in New Mexico as well as Arizona. Colorado would have as much right to eliminate the Colorado River.

President Winsor made the main address for the pact, which he declared essential to Arizona's progress.

He mourned the death of Franklin K. Lane, declared to be the father of efforts for the Colorado's use. Regret was expressed that politics had been interjected and a broader patriotism was urged together with consideration of the present necessities of the imperial and Yuma valleys.

The Mexican arguments of the opposition he declared bugaboo stuff. Owners of irrigable lands south of the line, he declared, are the same sort of Americans as those who live north of the line.

Any reclamation of Northwestern
Mexican lands outside the Colorado delta, must be by canals, that would come from north of the line, or by pumping. In neither case could there be danger to American interests.

"It is inconceivable," Mr. Winsor exclaimed, "that the United States Senate would give consideration to a legislative effort to strip it, or the State Department, of the treaty-making power."

RUTHERFORD'S VIEW
The opposition was represented mainly by Mr. Rutherford, who read a lengthy speech in which he claimed that American speculators were seeking to reap large profits through utilization of Asiatic labor on lands south of the line, giving as his authority statements printed in some Los Angeles papers.

The power trust said by
St. Charles to be against the pact Rutherford declared to be for the pact, and in his listing of monoplies, "listing for the electric life blood of Arizona," he mentioned the Southern California Edison Company and the city of Los Angeles.

Rutherford was severe on Water Commissioner Norviel, who had left the Legislature and who had granted a permit to the Diamond Creek project only a short time before convening of the Legislature. Other applicants for power rights, Mr. Norviel reported, were the city of Los Angeles, G. Henry Stetson, the Southern California
Edison Company and the Beekman
Linden Engineering Company.

Mr. Norviel wrote that he had been informed that the Edison company had no interest in the "Diamond Creek" project, which is backed mainly by the Calumet and Arizona Mining Company.

WOULD BUILD DAM
The House joined in the water game by passage of a House bill carrying an appropriation of $1,000,000 for construction of a dam on the upper Gila River, presumably in New Mexico, with expectation that New Mexico and the United States Reclamation Service would contribute a like sum.
The dam is projected for relief of lands around Duncan and Safford.

POLITICS

THE WATCHMAN

and of Political Thought and Action

BY THE SENTRY ON HIS BEAT
The job of picking a good man for Congress from the Tenth District to succeed the late Congressman H. Z. Osborne may prove a difficult one unless some of the men now contemplating entering the race are persuaded to remain in the ranks and lend their influence, efforts and support to one individual to be selected either by a party caucus or by common consent.

As the Congressional situation now exists, approximately a dozen men, any one of whom would serve the district well, are thinking of entering the race as contenders against probably a dozen or more who do not number among them a single individual qualified for the important place.

From a party view, the entrance of a large number of strong Republican candidates is very likely to assure the election of a Democrat and thus add to the partisan muddle in Washington.

From the broader standpoint of public service, no aspirant is justified in forcing himself into the fight either for personal or political considerations when his candidacy is likely to add to confusion and thereby aid the efforts of some clever, noisy, flashy individual who will profit from the division of public sentiment and the dilution of party strength.

The Tenth District needs the best man obtainable and it is quite within the bounds of highest public service for some of the "good men" in the district to serve best by staying at home and giving their complete co-operation and loyalty to one man whose election may thus only be assured.

Should a Republican conference be called for the purpose of agreeing upon a desirable candidate it is not only desirable but essential that personal ambitions and prejudices be wholly subordinated and that even with some sacrifice all sections, factions, groups and individuals shall strive for but one object—the best interests of the people of the Tenth District.

The special election at which the late Congressman's successor will be named is to be called by Gov. Richardson within the next two weeks. It is possible that instead of fixing the date to fall on the same day as the Los Angeles municipal primaries in May, the Governor will make it possible to hold the special election when the final city election is held in June.

The legislative recess which will end March 5, with the reconvening of the State Assembly and Senate for a session that doubtless will run until about the middle of May, has been greatly enjoyed by the political activities of State Superintendent of Public Instruction Will C. Wood. In his attacks on Gov. Richardson and the Governor's economy budget, Mr. Wood has energetically sought to swell an anvil into an anvil failure thus far.

But considerably more than a squabble over reduced appropriations is involved in the activities of Mr. Wood. He is doing all in his power to drag the schools of California into politics and, unfortunately for the boys and girls of California, he is succeeding in certain instances. It appears to be the object of Mr. Wood to have a Wood-for-Governor organization in every kindergarten, elementary school and high school in the State. He is seeking to cripple the new State administration before it begins to function and in his efforts he is being aided by every machine politician and disgruntled taxpayer whom Gov. Richardson has separated from the State pay roll.

Once before Mr. Wood precipitated the school-teachers of California into politics—in defense of the "come through" King tax bill which has been held up by the courts and which was one of the outstanding reasons for the defeat in former Gov. Stephens and the overthrow of the Stephens-Johnson-McCabe machine. Now, it is the apparent intention of Mr. Wood to create a machine of his own, recruited and officered by school-teachers, principals and superintendents.

He has sown discord, suspicion and apprehension throughout the entire State school system in his propagandizing attacks on the Richardson budget of State expenditures and undoubtedly has caused a feeling of uncertainty and discontent in the schools as a whole. This he has done despite the fact that Gov. Richardson has not proposed the reduction of a single teacher's salary, nor reduced support for a single recognized educational function in any high, intermediate or elementary school in California. More than 60 per cent of the new Governor's budget is for education and the reductions he has recommended in certain school appropriations are in keeping with his program of obtaining or retaining efficiency with economy.

It is the new Governor's conviction that every dollar necessary for proper educational facilities in this State should be made available, but that wastefulness and extravagance are unnecessary even for the administration of the schools. In the opinion of thousands of parents and the friends generally of education in this State the reduction of a few dollars here and there in school expenditures will prove far less disastrous to the schools than the building up by Mr. Wood of a powerful clique of pedagogical politicians.

The oratorical school superintendent, after all, may have aroused greater interest in the financial affairs of the State and thus involuntarily performed a good service for the Governor; for it will certainly do no harm to have the cheering assurance carried far and wide that here, at last, is a public official possessing the same wholesome respect for the public dollar that he entertains for the petty dollar.

THE WATCHMAN.
SHORT-TERM FRENCH
BONDS AUTHORIZED

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS)
PARIS Feb. 20.—The Senate, almost without discussion, today voted the bill already passed by the Chamber, authorizing the government to issue short-term treasury notes to amount to $12,000,000 during the present year. The bonds must be repaid within ten years.

Central and Citrus Belt League Spikesters at Work

OUTSIDE TRACK MEN ARE BUSY

Citrus Union Squad Annexes Meet From Alhambra

Roberts and Howes Exhibit Speed on Cinderpath

Wild Bill Yount Coaches Redlands High Crew

Out-of-town tracksters seem to have gotten the jump on the local cinderpath scorers. Citrus Union and Alhambra High, in the Central League, have already clashed, the Citrus lads nabbing the verdict, 51 to 54, and Redlands and San Bernardino are scheduled to meet Friday in the first dual meet of Citrus Belt League season.

In trimming Alhambra, several of Coach Sturges' Citrus Union men displayed stuff that may land them in the Southern California meet. Roberts took both the 100-yard dash and the quarter, turning the century in 10:2 and the 440 in an even 56. The also of Citrus Union, took both the 330 and the mile in fairly easy fashion. His time for the half was 1:15 and he was clocked at 5:03 in the four-lap event. All four times are considered good for so early in the season.

RAMBO FEATURES

Rambos featured for the Alhambra crew, capturing both the broad jump and 220. Alhambra probably would have made a better showing had West, star high jumper and hurdler, been able to compete. However, Citrus had two men, Chenoweth, a weightman, and Earl Nurdum, a high jumper, out. The latter was recently hit on the head with a discus and will be out for some time.

The Central League track meet is scheduled fairly early this year, with March 24 set as the date for its being held. Citrus Union is supposed to hold the meet this year, but Coach Sturges says it will probably be held at Patterson Field because of the poor condition of the Citrus track.

Coach William William Yount, former University of Redlands star, has his Redlands High spikesters working hard and says he expects to develop a few point winners before the season rolls by. This Citrus Belt will be held at Redlands this year on April 14 on the University of Redlands oval. Following is the Redlands High schedule:

February 22—San Bernardino at Redlands.
March 2—San Bernardino, Orange and Redlands at Redlands.
March 9—Redlands, Orange and San Bernardino at San Bernardino.
March 16—Redlands, Orange and San Bernardino at San Bernardino.
March 23—Orange, Redlands and San Bernardino at Orange.
March 30—Orange, Redlands and San Bernardino at Orange.
April 6—Orange, Redlands and San Bernardino at Orange.
April 13—Orange, Redlands and San Bernardino at Orange.
April 20—Orange, Redlands and San Bernardino at Orange.
April 27—Orange, Redlands and San Bernardino at Orange.

Longest automobile in the world was built for an American business man, and has a wheel base of 156 inches, almost thirteen inches longer than any other built in this country and six inches longer than any foreign make.

Unless the athlete has receded considerably in the past couple of years, Oakland has picked up a corking good ball player in DeWitt Le Bon.

When the writer saw him perform in Philadelphia two years ago he displayed speed and hitting ability and plenty of fielding. He was not quite up to that top form desired in the majors, but should go strong enough in minor league company, provided he has not slipped. Le Bon is a California boy who went to the majors without previous training in the P. C. L.

As a rule a player obtained from a talented major league club is not held in much esteem. He finds it hard to live down the past. But it is surprising how little difference there sometimes is between the members of a championship team and a tail-end aggregation, individually. The greatest difference, as a rule, is found in the pitchers. Give any second division club the pitching staff of a championship outfit, and watch it go. Otherwise there frequently isn't so much shortage of able help, but such a club lacks the fine unity and teamwork which spurs pennant.

The players are affected by discouragement, and succumb to environment. Irish Muesel and Dave Bancroft are players who prove the point. In their latter days with the Phils they were not by any stretch of the imagination more than mediocre ball players. Hope had ceased to spring eternal or otherwise in their breasts.

Muesel improved one as about through. This was in a measure due to the fact that he was having trouble with his arm. The life is beaten out of tail-end ball clubs. Human nature is like animal nature in this respect. But the transfer of these players to a contending and then a championship ball club worked a wonderful transformation. Muesel caught the spirit, and soon was playing the greatest ball of his career, while Bancroft developed, or, rather, again became probably the best shortstop in the majors.

All cases are not analogous, but here have been scores of players with tail-end teams who would have excelled in a championship combination.

McGraw seems to take a special delight in reaching down and dragging discouraged ball players out of the slough of despond, as in the case of Muesel and Bancroft. John J. has been charged with turning loose several good players, but at the same time it must be admitted that he has reclaimed a number who lurked in obscure places and were without honor in the old home town. In addition to Bancroft, Hawlings and Muesel might be mentioned John W. Scott of recent world series fame.

When they were parading out the players of the defunct Federal League at fancy prices, McGraw preferred Henry Kaus to Eddie Housch. The latter proved the greater, but Benny, until his trouble, was a mighty good ball player, and a far greater asset as a drawing card than Housch. Henry at that time was the best advertised player in baseball. McGraw is as good a showman as he is a manager. One is tempted to suspect that he sometimes sacrifices a bit of baseball to showmanship. At least, he always seems to have had more than the usual number of unusual individuals on his ball club, including southpaws, two right-handers who should have been southpaws, not to mention Cubans and North American Indians.

Kaus added color to a ball club which could hardly be characterized as less colorful than the aurore borealis or the display window of a shirt store at Forty-second and Broadway.

Moreover, I have it from an indirect source, that McGraw has about decided that he is through monkeying with quaint Cubans and the fiery aborigines of this country. Having so much color on his ball club has taken some of the same stuff out of his hair, causing that lack of pigmentation which seems to come with worry.

JAP WRESTLER STARTS GRAPPLING PRACTICE

T. Hirami, one fourth of the big double-header program at the Philharmonic Auditorium on February 23, has started real intensive practice for his tilt with Louis Pergamot. The wily Jiu-Jitsu expert ordered for breakfast this morning two quarts of saki and a couple dozen rice cakes. After this light breakfast he did a few turns on the mat.

In the days practice the Hon. Hiram showed up like a million yen and will no doubt give Pergamot a run for his money when they meet.

"MY THIRTY YEARS IN BASEBALL"

Article XXI

BY JOHN J. MCGRAW

Manager of the New York Giants, World's Baseball Champions, 1921-22.

(Copyright, 1922, U. S. and Canada, by the Christy Walsh Syndicate.) I doubt if anybody will dispute my selection of Eddie Collins as the greatest second baseman of all time and, therefore, entitled to a place on the all-American team of all time. At any rate, there is no doubt in my mind about it. In picking him I have been fully mindful of the greatness of such men as Napoleon Lajoie. It's pretty hard to select any team and leave Lajoie off. Still, Eddie Collins, in my opinion, is entitled to the honor.

There is nothing that Collins does not know about playing that important position. The Giants played against Eddie in several world's-championship games in which we were defeated. I have been a staunch admirer of that young man's ability ever since. I saw him make his first play and, as a pivot man on a double play, I don't remember ever having seen his equal. As an all-around man, he is superb. Not only does he play the game, but he thinks it. Rare are the occasions when Collins does not anticipate the play. To cross him is almost impossible. And he is just as forceful on the offensive as the defensive. His mental attitude is an inspiration to his fellow-players.

STICKS TO HANS

In the selection of a shortstop there is no going behind the returns. I doubt if there is a baseball man in the United States who would not select Hans Wagner for shortstop for any team, no matter how great, without a moment's hesitation. I have never heard of anybody pointing to a man as the possible peer of Wagner. He stands out above all. In these memoirs I have already devoted a chapter to show that I think Hans Wagner the greatest ball player that ever lived, regardless of position.

If Wagner had any weakness as a batter he never discovered it. On occasions he would strike out on an outcurve. The next time up he was likely to hit the same kind of curve out of the lot.

Wagner had a faculty of hitting bad balls as well as good ones. He would make up his mind to hit, and hit he would, regardless of what the pitcher gave him. He always stood in the far corner of the box and would run into the ball, swinging with a deadly accuracy. On the defensive, Wagner could throw from any position, and he had a pair of hands that never failed him. It was a common saying among ball players that Wagner never made a wild peg in his life.

BEST OF ALL

Hans Wagner will go down in baseball history as the greatest of all time. I believe that he could have played several more years than he did.

There have been many great third-basemen, and I have had several of them. I believe that there is no question that the honor of the All-American third-basemen of all time should go to Jimmy Collins. Incidentally, Jimmy Col-

I select Jimmy for his general excellence as a fielder, a hitter and a man. He was a great fellow on and off the field, and a credit to baseball. Jimmy Collins was particularly adept at going for bunts. The art of bunting had just come into being when Collins began playing third base and he was one of the first to solve this style of play. I remember very well a game in which we had the opposing third-basemen standing on the head trying to handle these tantalizing little babs. Collins was playing the outfield. He was called in. In a few innings, it seemed, he had completely blocked our efforts.

REAL PIONEER

Jimmy Collins was an originator, the real pioneer of the modern style of playing third base. He is clearly entitled to the All-American honor.

In the outfield I have selected Hugh Duffy, of the old Boston champions, as the all-American left fielder. Fans of today do not remember Duffy quite so well as the younger men, but they should. Not only was he a marvelous fielder but he was one of the hardest hitters the game has ever known. Duffy is not a large man, but, my, he could sting that ball! In Boston, old fans still relate some of his picturesque catches in the outfield.

Duffy first played centerfield for the Boston. After they won the championship in 1897 and 1898, through, he was shifted to left field and played there to the end of his career. Duffy is one of the few men to hit as high as .400. He also was a fine base-runner and a team to spirit.

TY STANDS OUT

Ty Cobb is outstanding as a centerfielder, a base-runner and as a batter. There is little use of my going into details about him. Everybody has seen Ty Cobb and knows his ability. The mere fact that he led the American League so many years in succession and is still a premier with the bat is sufficient. His aggressiveness is ever great. He has been many ball players who could play the outfield as well as Cobb, but none of them had his combination of speed, aggressiveness and quick thinking.

I doubt if anybody will dispute Ty Cobb's claim to the honor as the all-American centerfielder of all time.

For many years I have selected Willie Keeler for right field. Poor Willie died on New Year's Day, 1922, after a long illness—heart trouble. When he passed on one of the greatest talents that ever shone in baseball was dimmed. I played on the same team with Keeler, the Oyster, and I knew him like a book, knew his ability in every department of the game.

SOME TEAM

At bat Keeler and I were a team that helped to win many a pennant. I led and he followed. If I may be permitted to say so, Keeler and I practically revolutionized the style of hitting to advance the runner. It was a form of attack that had never been given much attention up to 1894. In previous chapters I have placed Keeler at length, giving many instances of his greatness. Space will not permit repetition here.

As a hitter, as a fielder and as a base runner, I have no hesitation in naming Willie Keeler as the greatest right fielder of all time—God rest his soul!

It has been very hard to leave Joe Kelly off that regular outfield. In recognition of his greatness and to do him justice I have placed him on my All-American team as the extra outfielder.

STRONG ON JOE

From my personal association with Kelly on the old Orioles and from my daily observation of his work, I am strongly convinced that Joe in his day was as good a man for the position as any of those who preceded him or followed him. In considering this matter I have gone over all the great ones, including such men as George Burns, Jimmy McAlleer, and many others. Some of them were weak in certain spots, like hitting or base running. Joe had no prominent weakness. He was fast on the bases, could hit the ball hard and was as graceful an outfielder as one would care to see. He covered an immense amount of ground and had that necessary faculty, so prominent in a breaker and others, of being able to place himself where the batter would be likely to hit the ball.

Joe Kelly was a great ball player. I wouldn't be satisfied if I didn't have him on my all-star team.

I have a hunch that some old friends—maybe some strangers—will write in and ask me to explain why I left certain men off my team. It is enough to explain my selections. It would be impossible to discuss those left off. In the next chapter I will explain my selections of pitchers.

BASKETERS GRAB

Occidental College's freshman basketball team was defeated by Coach R. E. Squire's Huntington Park High School squad at Huntington Park yesterday, 21 to 21. This marked the second defeat of the season for the Tiger frosh. Coach Squire's athletes, champions of the Bay League, will meet Santa Barbara in one of the opening games of the Southern California prep play-off Friday night.

GITTLESON WINS

In the three-cushion billiard tourney at Stevens's billiard parlor last night, H. Gittleson defeated J. E. Brunn, 30 to 19—both scratch men—before a large and excited crowd. In tonight's play, J. L. Trice will meet J. Sanders—both scratch men.

Here they were joined by Nick and Martin Dumovich, southpaws and otherwise almost twins, but not quite. Killerer stated that Nick is nearly signed up for the season with everything satisfactory, meaning that the popular one-time Angel will render that faithful and brilliant service which can be dished out by only a contented plucked out of the dawn at the Depot was Barrie Viveries, who is a native of Oakland.

INSTRUCTORS GALORE

Never has a baseball squad been more completely equipped with instructors. Killerer, Duguey, Doyle and Wallace are all coaches, while Alexander generally takes a few of the young pitchers in hand and teaches them how to trim the corners and freaso the edges. Thus there is a chaperone for every four players which should prevent any very bad bores. Chicago's outfielders and the remainder of the infielders will land on March 4.

SHORTAGE OF FOOD

Reports from Elmhurst, where Killerer has twenty rookies doing peccoco capers, indicates a possible food shortage, with all the young players showing great unrest just before meal time. Yesterday there were acts of sabotage committed on hotel victuals three times, and a train of waitresses coming in from the kitchen was derailed in order to avoid a repetition of this. It is planned to double-track the roadbed from the kitchen into the dining room, and equip the head waitress with a semaphore.

Santa Barbara yacht fans voted him the place. Officially the regatta dates have been set for July 16 to 21. The Transpacific yacht race will start July 21, the course laid for Santa Barbara to Honolulu.

A schooner carrying many fans from over the country will accompany the racers across the ocean. The "Stiffsgarden," the old State house used as a residence by the King and Queen of Norway when in Trondhem, is the largest wooden palace in Europe.

by the Indiana against Notre Dame's track team last week. Coach Gill has been turning out stars with such regularity in the past few years that his 5-point victory over Notre Dame doesn't live up to his reputation. The time and distance records were only mediocre, while Michigan set some excellent work in crushing Chicago's indoor track men. Reinker's performance in lowering the conference record for the half-mile is worthy of applause, the plucky Wolverine bounding around the Maroons' track in 1:56.4.

BASEBALL STARTS

Baseball practice is in vogue throughout the Middle West now, battery men warming up daily in the cages while the fielders are taking the kinks out of their arms. Coaches are praying for an early spring in order that their men may be in good condition for the opening of the horsehide season about April 1.

GOOD RELAY TEAM

Kansas University is going to make a strong bid for the all-around honors in the Illinois relays by entering the accomplished Norton. Norton is one of the best all-around athletes in the business and if he is in proper form March 2, his opponents will have a rather discouraging time of it in the 160-yard dash. Norton has done 10-1, he steps off the high hurdles in 18-1 leaves the 400 in 1:00, high jumps 5 ft. 11 in. and vaults slightly over 12.

WINNER GRABS CLINE TROPHY

Miss Leslie Bancroft will be a surprise to the European tennis world. Her tremendous drive and sensational speed may prove the Waterloo of many conservative games which have stood up against Mrs. Mallory. Miss Bancroft's speed is so fast that it is almost impossible to follow her with her footwork when she comes really interested in a match, is just the style to cause Miss Lenglen trouble.

AT HER BEST

Reports tell of Miss Lenglen's marvelous play. No doubt the great Suzanne is at her best, for she has enjoyed fine health and a long rest. Mrs. Mallory will jump into the tournaments directly from the steamer. If she is fortunate enough to escape defeat in the early rounds, while losing her sea legs and becoming acclimated, she may meet Suzanne in her first event.

American Star Tennis to Play at Riviera

Miss Bancroft May Spring Surprise Abroad

(BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE.) PARIS, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Molla Hunsford Mallory, American woman lawn tennis champion, who is to play for Monte Carlo, where she intends to play in the tennis tournament beginning the 26th inst. Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the French star, is also entered. Mrs. Mallory appeared to have recovered from the shaking up experienced during the stormy crossing of the Atlantic from New York.

BY WILLIAM T. TILDEN II, World's Champion Tennis Player 1920-21

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.) PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—The recent return to the courts of Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen coupled with the announcement that Mrs. Molla Hunsford Mallory and Miss Leslie Bancroft, the two leading American stars, would play in the Riviera tournaments has created a stir in the tennis world. The old arguments as to the relative merits of Molla and Suzanne are again raging, while speculation is rife as to Miss Bancroft's ability to cope with the famous French girl or the leading English stars like Miss Kitty McKane, Miss Beaumont or Miss Ryan.

Unfortunately, Mrs. Mallory will be unable to stay abroad to compete at Wimbledon. She is forced to return to America early in April. Miss Bancroft will play at the world's championships, where she will be joined by a strong American invasion including Miss Edith Sigourney, Miss Florence Bollin, Miss Martha Bayard, Miss Eleanor Coss, Miss Elise Sears and Miss Katherine Gardner, Francis T. Hunter and possibly Vincent Richards may also join the team. It is indeed a pity that in the first big invasion of American women into the tennis world, Mrs. Mallory is unable to participate.

However, 1924 may find this trio of Californians on foreign shores.

Arriving in Los Angeles unannounced, Col. Vincent went immediately into conference with De Palma, veteran race driver and engineer. De Palma, who is scheduled to pilot one of the three fast little machines in the Hoosier Classic Memorial Day at Indianapolis — great international speedway championship event — has been in direct charge of their fabrication here.

IN TOUCH WITH RACER From now till the time these cars are ready to go on the Beverly track for their tests, Col. Vincent will be in direct touch with De Palma and the experts who are creating the cars. When they are considered they are finally ready for a brush with the fastest American and European racing vehicles, according to the Packard engineering head, they will be shipped to the factory at Detroit for the final touches.

As has already been announced, the cars differ from other racing machines in that they are six-cylinders. Col. Vincent said, "I do not know accurately, but I believe there will be no other six-cylinder cars in the Indianapolis race except possibly the Italian Fiat. We anticipate our hottest competition from the Italian-made machines—and it was our wish to keep the race laurels at home which helped determine our organization into going into racing again."

Discussing the engineering elements of the new and smaller motors, Col. Vincent said that the main point aimed at in attempting to build a smaller car which will give as fast or faster time than those of present displacement, is to attain higher motor revolution speed. Thus the new Packards, he

BEVERLY BOWL FAVORED

Los Angeles Speedway to be Used as Laboratory for Testing New Packard Racing Cars

Los Angeles' speedway, already celebrated as one of the world's foremost race bowls, is to be used as a laboratory for testing the first of the surprise Packard 122-cubic-inch speed machines. These cars—all three of which are being secretly built up in a local automotive shop—will be given their tryouts at Beverly shortly after the big championship race of next Sunday.

This was disclosed yesterday by Col. J. G. Vincent of Detroit, vice-president in charge of Packard engineering, and noted as the co-creator with Col. E. J. Hall of California of the airplane Liberty motor.

Cow Pony May Race Bangtail at Horse Show

As a spectacular feature of the opening of the Second Annual Horse Show in Los Angeles, it is highly probable that a long-distance test race will be arranged by leading Southern California horsemen to decide the much-mooted question as to whether the American thoroughbred or the cow pony is capable of greater endurance.

Two routes have been proposed for this unique contest, the subject of which has created a lively stir among local horse owners, a number of whom are enthusiastic for making it an annual affair timed with the opening of the future horse shows in Los Angeles. One route is the coast line from Los Angeles to Santa Barbara and return, while the second is from Los Angeles, via the inland route, to San Diego and return.

Armour Balance Sheet Shows

Forward Strides

Credit Structure is Strong;

Recent Financing

Copper Market Stimulated

by Rising Price

Measurable forward strides from the period of lethargy prevailing in the packing business in 1921, is indicated in the balance sheet for last year released by the newly reorganized Armour & Co. of Del.

General improvement is evident particularly in the heavy reduction of inventory, a decrease in accounts receivable and retirement of gold notes and bonds by the sale of preferred stock and bonds at a lower rate of interest.

These items were recently distributed throughout the country by numerous investment houses.

The total assets of Armour & Co. are given as $441,539,820, representing a drastic readjustment to meet present-day conditions.

Accounts receivable register a decline of more than 50 per cent, which is evidence of the firm steps taken by the management to collect outstanding accounts and restrict long term credits. In 1921, the accounts receivable were $148,253,440. In the statement as of Dec. 31, 1922, this item has been reduced to $59,675,551.

Plant, equipment, land and franchise valuations show an increase of more than 24 per cent, increasing from $125,020,640 to $159,119,470. This growth is in line with the constant expansion of the company as shown by the balance sheets of the preceding years, which record a steady and consistent growth in plant facilities.

Inventory also shows a reduction for the past year, although not so great as in the two preceding years. As of Dec. 31, 1922, the inventory is given as $79,950,828, a reduction of approximately $3,060,000 from the preceding year.

This is less than 50 per cent of the inventory as of Nov. 1, 1921, and shows a consistent reduction of stock on hand.

Cash on hand is given at $34,144,574, an increase of $8,000,000 over the preceding year, and only $1,000,000 less than that of 1920, which was the highest of the four years for which balance sheets are shown.

Following the financing of Armour & Co. of Delaware, which included $60,000,000 preferred stock and $50,000,000 gold notes, $5,522,500 debentures, and reduced its notes payable from $129,195,915 to $59,365,570.

Branch Manager

For New Bank

on Pico Street

A. M. Beamon was yesterday appointed by the directors of the Security Trust and Savings Bank to be manager of the new branch at Pico and Alvarado streets. This branch will occupy a handsome new building and is expected to become an important financial institution in that part of the city.

Mr. Beamon is very well known in banking circles in Los Angeles. He entered the service of the Central Bank in 1903. This bank subsequently became the Central National Bank, the Security National Bank, and was finally merged with the Security Trust and Savings Bank, of which Mr. Beamon is now assistant cashier.

P. W. Healy of the Guaranty office was appointed manager of the harbor branch at San Pedro, to take effect March 1. Mr. Healy will succeed D. A. Evers, who retires on account of ill health. Mr. Healy entered the employ of the German-American Savings bank in 1905, and has continued with the same institution through its various mergers and into the Security Trust and Savings Bank. He was in charge of the commercial loan department prior to the merger of the Guaranty Bank with the Security.

O. F. Parkhurst, who has been long identified with the Equitable branch at First and Spring streets, was selected chief clerk of that branch.

State Superintendent May Put Brakes on Too Rapid Expansion of Banking Facilities

In the first public expression of policy enunciated by the new State Superintendent of Banks, John Franklin Johnson, given to The Times yesterday, the chief threw a bomb into the camp of the expansionists by viewing with alarm what he called the "epidemic" of new banks, and made it plainly apparent that he will scrutinize most carefully future applications with a view of development under consideration.

"Upon taking charge of the State Banking Department, and looking over the field in Los Angeles," said Mr. Johnson, "I am struck first with the multiplicity of new banks that have either just started, or for which application has been made or are about to be made to this department. This 'epidemic,' while somewhat developed in the portions of the State, seems to have reached its most advanced stage in Los Angeles and vicinity, and the question that is uppermost in my mind is whether there is a need for so extraordinary an expansion of the banking system as is concerned, and in addition, whether it is a safe thing for the banks themselves to be allowed to start promiscuously with a small capitalization in communities not yet able to support them, where the field is already more or less occupied by banks already established, and where their competition will be very keen as time progresses."

"In other words, it occurs to me that it is a safer sound business practice for the community to develop to the point where greater banking facilities are required at the time of the opening of the bank, rather than that a bank and its attendant risk of being an unprofitable venture and consequent subsequent disaster in communities that are, merely potential financial centers."

"It must be remembered that while there are arbitrary political subdivisions in Los Angeles and environs, these do not necessarily mean in a business way a complete segregation, and so far as I have been able to investigate, in the short time that I have been here, I think there are very few communities in the county of Los Angeles that are not now adequately taken care of from a banking standpoint. At least it is safe to say that there is no community that has 'arrived,' that is not fairly served."

STANDPOINT OF SERVICE

"Our California law contemplates banking from the standpoint of service to the community, coupled with safety of the public's money on deposit. This latter viewpoint, of course, eliminates the idea of unlimited competition, and before a new bank is started, two things must necessarily be established, and it occurs to me that the burden of proof must be on the proponents of the new bank."

"First, that there is a real demand in the community for new or additional banking facilities, and second, assuming that the existing banks are reasonably well run, both as a business proposition and in the interests of the section served, it must be shown that there is business enough for the new bank without taking it away from the established institutions."

"I enunciate this latter theory, notwithstanding the fact that it is well-known that the National banking system, which the State banking system is in competition throughout the State, does not ad-

Liberty Bond Exemptions Expire

The exemption from surtax on the Liberty Bonds expires this year. This is a good time to change your investments into Municipal bonds which are tax-free. There is also some agitation at the present time to make all future issues of Municipal bonds taxable. This will, undoubtedly, put a high premium on the Municipal bonds already issued, which will, of course, retain their tax-free features.

We can submit you a list of high grade Municipal bonds and will be glad to have you confer with us before you make any trades.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Speculators for the advance continued to mark up prices in today's stock market, choosing new leaders from among the railroad, motor accessory and chemical shares when their operations in standard industrial shares, which were again heavy in volume. While trading was on a slightly reduced scale, it was the eleventh consecutive full session in which total sales had exceeded the 1,000,000 mark.

Averages of twenty industrial shares and twenty railroad shares each stood at new high levels for the year at the close of session. The industrial average today stood at 103.44 as against the high mark of 103.44 for last year, established in October. Today's railroad average of 96.17 was still well below the high mark of 97.99 last year.

Switching of professional speculative interests from the industrial to the railroad was predicated on the belief that the January earnings statements, soon to be published, would be unusually favorable. The Central, which established another new high for the year, 117 1/4, up 2 1/4 points from yesterday's close, was one of the leaders. Other strong spots were Louisville and Nashville, Norfolk and Western, Chicago and North Western, St. Louis-Southwestern preferred, and Baltimore and Ohio, all up a point or more. Industrials were taken in hand again in the late dealings, American Can being pushed up more than 4 points to a new peak price at 100 1/2, then reacting to 99 at the close. Unconfirmed reports of an early increase in the dividend rate from $5 to $7 sent Stromberg Carborundum soaring to a new high at 82 1/2 or nearly 15 points above yesterday's low. Other motor accessories improved in sympathy. Fisher Body jumping 10 points to 151 and Bosch Magneto touching 49 1/2, then slipping back to 46 1/4, where it was up nearly 4 points on the day.

Maintenance of the 15-cent-a-pound rate for copper and announcements of higher prices for gasoline and automobile tires were the principal items of trade news. Establishment of a new high record for sterling within 15 cents of parity and only 2 1/2 cents below the "pegged rate" of $4.75 maintained by the British government during the war had a cheerful effect on sentiment.

Buying of the chemical shares was based on reports of the steady improvement in that industry, gains of 1 to 2 points being registered by American Agricultural, Davison and Virginia-Carolina common and preferred. United Fruit made a quick response to rumors of an extra dividend distribution, jumping from 178 to 180 1/2. Phillips Petroleum turned heavy on the announcement that the directors had deemed it advisable to amend the certificate of incorporation in order to provide for a 100 per cent increase in the amount of authorized capital stock.

Call money opened at 4 1/4 per cent, rose to 5 per cent during the noon hour and to 6 1/4 just a few minutes before the close. Time money was quiet, with under availability for all maturities at 5 per cent. The commercial-paper market held firm.

The features of the foreign-exchange market were the continued strength of sterling and the renewed weakness of German marks, which dropped to .9411 cent, as against the recent high of .9532 1/2 and the extreme low of .9020 established last month. French, Belgian and Italian rates all showed improvement.

Day's total sales, 1,074,000 shares. Twenty industrial average.

THE CLEVELAND TRUST CO., CLEVELAND, OHIO, TRUSTEE

SALESPERSONS

As Summarized from Letter of Rufus E. Lee, President of the Company, to us:

The Company, through its various subsidiaries, furnishes electric light and power to one hundred and eight adjacent cities and communities, and gas to seven of these communities, located in Western Iowa, Eastern Nebraska, Northern Missouri—one of the most productive agricultural regions in the United States—and Brandon, Manitoba, Canada. Seventy-two per cent (72%) of the total revenue of the Company is derived from the sale of electricity.

The Company serves a population of over 337,000, having over 68,000 customers, which is at the ratio of one customer to every 2 1/2 inhabitants, indicating the thorough development of its business and territory.

The proceeds from the sale of these bonds will be used to pay for the acquisition of the Lincoln Gas & Electric Company, for large extensions to the properties, for the construction of additional facilities, and for the reimbursement of the Corporation's treasury for new construction recently completed.

The replacement value of the physical properties of the Company is in excess of $16,000,000, based upon an appraisal as of June, 1922, by the Nebraska Bureau of Securities with expenditures to date (including the expenditures of the proceeds of these bonds) verified by independent engineers, V. L. Hollister & Company.

The total amount of mortgage debt outstanding against all of the properties of the Company, including this series of bonds, will be $9,517,000, which is about 60% of the replacement value. The Refunding Mortgage 6% bonds (this issue) are secured by the deposit of all outstanding stocks and bonds (with fractional exceptions) of all subsidiary companies, except $1,500,000 closed First Mortgage Bonds of the Lincoln Gas & Electric Company. They are a lien thereon subject only to the $4,337,000 First Lien Collateral Trust 6% bonds of 1927, provision for the refunding of which is made in the trust indenture securing this issue.

Orange Crop Is Bigger, Better in Every Way

According to the crop estimate of February 1 as accepted by shippers of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, this state will ship 2000 more carloads of citrus fruits during the current season than was estimated on the January 1 estimate.

The total estimated movement of citrus fruits from California from Nov. 1, 1922, to October 31, this year is now predicted to reach 40,111 carloads.

Compared with the January 1 estimate of 37,515 carloads of oranges, lemons and grapefruit an increase of over 2000 carloads is shown. Contrasted with the November 1 estimate this latest estimate shows an increase of 2526 carloads.

The increase in the crop as estimated on February 1 is said to be largely in the orange crop, and is about equally divided between central and Valencia varieties.

Total shipments of oranges and grapefruit for the season are estimated at 45,785 cars, compared with 44,031 on January 1. Lemon shipments are only slightly increased on this latest estimate, which forecasts 11,790 carloads, compared with 11,550 cars on the previous estimate.

This latest estimate shows approximately a 2.5 per cent increase in the orange crop compared with the January estimate, and an increase of 11.4 per cent over the novel estimate of November 1.

WALL STREET NEWS

BY MONITOR
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
(Specialist, Wall Street)

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—According to official advice, the situation regarding American Woolen provides ample justification for the current market strength of the stock. The company is sold through the fall season and buyers will be allocated stocks on the basis of three-quarters of their orders. Much of the recent buying has come from New England, which provides a very good indication that those in the textile trades are very bullish on the possibilities of the trade leader. Earnings during 1923 should double those of last year and are believed to be running at from $30 to $35 per share at the present time, the company being further fortified by the large supplies of raw materials booked at much lower prices.

WELLS FARGO
Wells Fargo was one of the leaders of the specialty group today, advancing about two points in the early trading. Reports indicate that this company is planning liquidation, and in the event of such a move the sale of assets should return considerably more than $100 per share to stockholders. A cash dividend of $50 per share is to be paid on this stock next month.

AMERICAN CAN
American Can featured trading today in a move which made stock-exchange history. After holding within reaching distance of several days, a strong buying movement developed which sent the stock across par. While much of the buying in Can has apparently been of a speculative nature, this is holding on so tenaciously as to attract interest. Yielding only 3 per cent, American Can is regarded as too high in the present market, but when it is considered that the company has earned more than $15 per share in 1922 and the prospects for 1923 are even better, the case assumes an entirely different character. Steel companies also have built up a following which has carried the stock to a trading area between 197 and 199, and while the mood of the market is infinitely greater than those of American Can at the present time, the background of earnings last year in the case of Steel is not as impressive as in the case of Can. Both stocks are being bought not so much for the present yield as in the belief that the extras during the year may be declared.

UNITED FRUITS
United Fruits crossed 175 today. The strength and activity in this issue was somewhat impressive, considering the natural restrictions on the size of the market following imposed by the very high purchase price. In 1923, Fruit earned about $15 per share and a 100% increase is expected during 1923. Already the stock is full of rumors of increasing cash dividends to be paid from the substantial surplus of the company.

AMERICAN CHEMICAL
The rise in American Agricultural Chemical today was in response to the strong outlook for the chemical and fertilizer industries during the coming year. Other companies in this business are being awarded with more confidence in the stock market, and a more general reflection of this trade improvement is expected.

TOBACCO PRODUCTS
January profits of Tobacco Products are running at the rate of about 75 per cent over January, 1922. While this is an indication of improved business to a certain extent, it also reflects the increased operations resulting from the acquisition of United Retail Stores and the John J. Bagley Company. Estimates of 1923 earnings run as high as $7 per share.

MILEAGE BOOKS
The special meeting of the eastern presidents' conference will be held in the New Haven board room at 11 o'clock Friday morning, at which time the eastern executives will determine upon the course of action which will be pursued toward the recent order of the Interstate Commerce Commission that 1500 mile interchangeable mileage books be reduced 20 per cent in cost. For the past several days the question has been the main subject of discussion at the routine meeting of the vice-presidents in charge of passenger business of the eastern presidents. Naturally, the eastern presidents feel more strongly on this question than do the western and southwestern executives. Dense population in the East, as well as the short haul between large cities, make passenger business one of the main factors in railway income in this section.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

United Eastern appears to have displaced Tom Reed for the time being as the leader of the mining group. The stock has been making a persistent upward movement from below the $1 mark, although the advance has not been attended with wild activity, as in the Tom Reed trading. On the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday, United Eastern sold up to 2.37 1/2, but closed off at 2.25.

General Petroleum was active in the oil list, moving to a high for the day at 18, but finishing the session at a final price of 17 1/4, up 1-4 over the previous close. Union Oil Associates acquired 1/2 of a point at 48 1/2 and U. & R. Royalties jumped forward 3/4 cent to 78. Amalgamated Oil sold around 11 1/2.

Tom Reed was off 3 cents in the mining department, closing at 1.12. Telluride appreciated in value to 25 cents, a gain of 1, and Outback Combination advanced 1 cent to 10.

Los Angeles Gas preferred at 91, Southern California Edison common at 193, and Goodyear Tire and Rubber preferred were the active stocks in the industrial and public-utility lists.

BUSINESS NEWS OF BUSY MARTS

way for a resumption of dividends in the near future.

Net operating profit of the Union Sugar Company for 1922 amounted to $1,177,000, according to the annual statement released by President P. C. Drecher. The year was one of trying times for the best sugar industry, the report says, because of the very low sugar market prevailing at the beginning of the year, and the unfavorable future outlook due to the large carryover of the very low sugar market.

Relative to dividends, President Drecher said: "There has been a decided increase in the past ten years for land purchases and improvements $975,494.70 and for other capital expenditures $1,011,119.44. Four boards of directors have unanimously of the opinion that a portion of, or such expenditures should be capitalized, at this time, in a suitable manner, and will present a plan to that end at an early date. This being done, and with the more favorable market outlook, it is hoped that some distribution in the shape of dividends from current earnings may be feasible."

CREDIT
By January 31, 1923, the credit of the United States had increased by $1,000,000,000 in 1922, according to the report of the Federal Reserve Board.

BROKERS' LOANS
Increasing public participation in the stock market is indicated by a new high record for brokers' loans reached on the 14th inst., according to eastern reports. The previous high point was in November, 1922, when loans amounted to $1,100,000,000.

The Wall Street Journal points out the fact that the credit strength of the country has not been impaired to any extent by the growth of funds directed into speculative and non-productive investments. Call money rates remain easy, holding around 4 to 5 per cent. With the United States holding more than half of the world's gold supply, and with industrial enterprises maintaining a somewhat reluctant attitude relative to expansion and demands for credit, the outlook for a continuation of ample speculative funds appears bright, it is said.

On January 1, an early date at the beginning of the bull market, brokers' loans totaled $650,000,000, and have expanded rapidly to the present mark of $1,100,000,000.

GLOBE ICE CREAM BONDS
Hunters, Dullin & Co. are offering $250,000 Globe Ice Cream bonds, 7 per cent serial gold bonds, due Jan. 1, 1924 to 1926, inclusive, at 100 and 101. The bonds are being offered by the Globe Ice Cream Company, which was incorporated in 1922 and owns a modern ice cream plant at the intersection of Hill and Jefferson streets, which covers a ground area of over 50,000 square feet. It is proposed through the present financing to erect and equip another concrete building in addition to the present plant, which is the trust on the present land, buildings and equipment, as well as upon the additions now being built.

SIXTEEN-CENT COPPER
Sixteen-cent copper came into being on the top of a buying wave which had its inception last Thursday. It was the first time since 1919 that this price was paid for copper, although during September, 1922, the metal had a precipitate overnight decline from 18 to 15 cents without any intervening cause.

It was estimated by one of the participants that copper transactions in the four days were between 75,000,000 and 80,000,000 pounds, at prices ranging from 15 1/2 cents up to 18 cents a pound. A feature of yesterday's copper market in which American producers placed considerable significance was the unusual activity and strength on the London market. Private cables from that source indicated that much of the big volume of sales there was for account of covering short contracts by New York selling agencies which at times were credited with having speculative commitments abroad.

PERSONAL MENTION
H. B. Thomas, vice-president of the Thomas & McKeen Company, returned yesterday from New York where he attended the meeting of the loan correspondents of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, which, according to Mr. Thomas, looks upon this field as an attractive one for making loans.

The Thomas Company has offices at Detroit, Dallas and Memphis, as well as in Los Angeles, and has been instrumental, it is said, in placing several million dollars of Eastern capital in these fields.

TIME TO PLAY
Through the fatherly interest of the Santa Fe Railway officials, California and shippers accompanying trainloads of live-stock from the distant shipping points in Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico to Los Angeles will be granted a stop-over of ten days before returning. It was announced yesterday through the office of H. F.

Alvarez, general freight agent here. In the past, the drivers have only been given a stop-over of seventy-two hours, which hardly left them time to unload, and did not permit them to enjoy the sights, transient business, or make needed purchases, after the cattle or sheep were disposed of. The time was later changed to five days, but as it has proved insufficient, the Santa Fe has taken the lead in extending the stop-over in order to allow the visitors from the back country all the time they want.

JOINS IN WAR ON CRIMINALS

Riverside County Indorses Legislative Program

Chamber of Commerce Aids Crime Commission

Organized Labor to Support Most of Bill

(REUTERS DISPATCH) RIVERSIDE, Feb. 20.—The Riverside County Chamber of Commerce in session at Banning today adopted a resolution offered by J. R. Gabbert, editor of the Riverside Enterprise, in part as follows: "Resolved, that the Riverside County Chamber of Commerce indorses the program that has been undertaken in Los Angeles and generally indorses throughout Southern California, favoring a three-fourths verdict in criminal cases except where such verdict involves the death penalty; giving judges the right to select on the evidence and advise juries on questions of fact as well as law; providing that probation shall not be open to persons convicted of crimes of violence involving the use of deadly weapons; nor to public officials found guilty of bribery, embezzlement or extortion; and indorsing the general policy for increasing the penalties for crimes where deadly weapons are used as outlined in the recent report of the Los Angeles Crime Commission and the Los Angeles Bar Association, as published in the public press."

A committee representing organized labor in Los Angeles met yesterday with the Los Angeles Crime Commission at the Athletic Club to discuss the legislative program indorsed by the commission as part of its war upon crime. The committee was composed of John S. Horn, secretary-treasurer of the Los Angeles Labor Council; A. B. Hanes, manager of the Labor Temple; George A. Wright, secretary-treasurer of the County Building Trades Council; and vice-president of the State Building Trades Council, and E. W. Evans, vice-chairman of the central committee, who presided. The committee was instructed to learn the sentiment of interested individuals and organizations relative to the calling of a Republican caucus to indorse a successor to the late Congressman H. Z. Osborne in the Tenth District was appointed yesterday at a special meeting of the Los Angeles County Republican Central Committee.

W. E. Evans, vice-chairman of the central committee, who presided, appointed the following committee to wait upon various civic organizations and representative citizens of the Tenth District: Atorney Joe Crail, Charles H. Treat, W. J. Sanborn, William R. Kilgore, Mrs. Katherine Leighton, Clifford Hughes and E. P. Clark.

Mr. Trevelyan, who attended the meeting, announced that he has been urged to enter the Congressional race, but that he has decided that he can best serve the people of the community by remaining in his present position as president of the Board of Public Works.

FRESNO WARS ON CRIME

Police Motor Squad to Patrol Streets and "Shoot to Kill;" Force to be Enlarged

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) FRESNO, Feb. 20.—Open warfare on burglars who have terrorized Fresno for weeks and incidentally on vagrants and all other flouters was declared by the city government this afternoon. The City Commission approved a recommendation of Chief of Police Frank F. Trux that twelve men be added to the police force and be formed into a motorized squad to patrol the residence districts and clear the streets of suspicious characters at night.

Trux was instructed to act immediately and expects to have a part of the squad working tomorrow. Every person who loitered on the streets at a late hour and who cannot give a satisfactory account of himself will be arrested. Trux announced that the commission's action today. The dragnet also will be extended to the jungles on the edge of the town, where hordes congregate sometimes in large numbers.

The commission acted in response to a letter from Trux, telling of the record of burglaries during the last few weeks has kept householders in a state of acute nerves and outlining the inadequacy of the police force to deal with the situation. Operating in fast cars the new squad will patrol constantly every night, except suspicious persons and especially check up on automobiles who are abroad at unusual hours.

Trux last today was preparing an appeal in which he will ask that all persons halted by the shot gun squad stop and submit to questioning, because the detail will be under strict instructions to shoot when orders to halt are ignored.

PLAN JOINT CELEBRATION

Los Angeles Patriotic Societies to Honor Memory of Three Great Americans Next Saturday

Members of the forty patriotic societies and organizations in Los Angeles, and their legions of friends and associates will assemble Saturday at Sycamore Grove for memorial exercises in a joint celebration of the natal anniversaries of Washington, Lincoln and McKinley. The program will start at 10 a.m. at a social gathering and a program of music furnished by the Harvard Military School Band, the Grand Army of the Republic and the Patriotic Community Singers. In the afternoon there will be patriotic addresses on Washington, Lincoln and McKinley and a musical program of band and vocal selections. The idea of conducting a joint memorial service in honor of the three great Americans originated at a meeting of Stanton Post, Grand Army of the Republic, held in January. Since then Post Commander-in-Chief C. E. Adams of the Grand Army of the Republic, C. H. Haskins, C. E. Lefevre, W. R. DuBoussay, C. F. Derby and T. D. Wallace, the general committee in charge, have been engaged with many subcommittees selecting from the personnel of the organizations in perfecting the plans for the memorial program. Associated in the celebration plans have been the veterans of the Civil

CONGRESS RACE PLAN DISCUSSED

Committee Named to Find Whether Caucus is Wanted in Tenth District

A committee instructed to learn the sentiment of interested individuals and organizations relative to the calling of a Republican caucus to indorse a successor to the late Congressman H. Z. Osborne in the Tenth District was appointed yesterday at a special meeting of the Los Angeles County Republican Central Committee.

W. E. Evans, vice-chairman of the central committee, who presided, appointed the following committee to wait upon various civic organizations and representative citizens of the Tenth District: Atorney Joe Crail, Charles H. Treat, W. J. Sanborn, William R. Kilgore, Mrs. Katherine Leighton, Clifford Hughes and E. P. Clark.

Mr. Trevelyan, who attended the meeting, announced that he has been urged to enter the Congressional race, but that he has decided that he can best serve the people of the community by remaining in his present position as president of the Board of Public Works.

BONDED WINERY IS RAIDED

Officers Pour 3800 Gallons of Excess Liquor in El Monte Sewers; Owner Fined $500

A total of 3800 gallons of age-mellowed wine flowed in the gutters of El Monte yesterday (and El Monte is only a small place). Nine hundred gallons, the amount Antonio Merlo had a permit to make and possess, was placed under Internal Revenue Bureau locks and seals in Merlo's warehouse and Merlo went before a Puento of the peace, pleaded guilty to illegal possession of liquor and was fined $500.

These, with the arrest of Mrs. Merlo and the arrest of a man named Duast, said to be owner of the Los Nietos Social Club, were the results of a raid and investigation made by county investigators and internal revenue agents at Merlo's bonded winery. The raid was the second within a month at bonded wineries, of which there are thirty-five in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

LIFE SECRETS ARE REVEALED

World Celebrities Here Are Interviewed

Vanderbilt and McAdoo Two of "Victims"

Paderewski Almost, Too, but He Was "Out"

A reporter of The Times spent yesterday afternoon interviewing certain people of importance in finance, art and politics. The information obtained was most interesting. The persons of note were W. K. Vanderbilt (finance), Jan Ignace Paderewski (art), and William Gibbs McAdoo (politics).

McAdoo arrived yesterday in their private car. Mr. Vanderbilt over the Santa Fe and Mr. Paderewski over the Southern Pacific. Inquiry at the station master's at the Santa Fe at noon divulged the intelligence that Mr. Vanderbilt's car had been transferred to the Southern Pacific station. The Southern Pacific station is reached by taking the East First-street car from the Santa Fe station and transferring via Broadway to the East Fifth-street line.

The private car park of the Southern Pacific is located at Sixth and Alameda, a block from the station. A gentleman with an oily rag in his hands and "Uncle Sam" overalls on pointed to a private car as Mr. Vanderbilt's. Then Mr. Paderewski's concert manager stepped from the car.

Mr. Paderewski was not at home. Out for the day, interview, dear me! Mr. Paderewski never gives interviews when he is in town. An ironbound rule, and fellow. Upsets him. On this tour they've tried and tried—he won't do it. Plays here tomorrow, you know, then to Paso Robles for a week, then on. From San Diego.

Yes, Mrs. Paderewski is traveling with him. Well, good-by. Jan Ignace Paderewski has a most interesting personality. Pianist and composer, diplomat, statesman. He was born in the province of Podolia, Poland, Nov. 6, 1860. He began to learn piano at 3 etc.; hon. Ph. Doc., of Lemberg, 1881 etc.; deputy Vienna, 1887; established "Paderewski Fund," led in organizing Polish Republic; Premier of Poland, 1918, etc. etc. Comdr. Order of the Crown (Italian) etc. etc.; Address, Warsaw, Poland. (Later, Paso Robles, Cal. Just away from S. P. Station, Los Angeles.)

Mr. Vanderbilt's car is the Pioneer. The Pioneer is a switch engine had taken the Pioneer away some time before. The station master advised that the Pioneer had gone to be cleaned and would not be back until night. Mr. Vanderbilt not on her, certainly.

William Gibbs McAdoo has a very interesting personality. He was born in New York, Oct. 24, 1874. A. William McAdoo and Mrs. Murray (Smith) V. Harvard U. 1897-99; entered service of N. Y. Central Lines, etc.; now dir. N. Y. Central R.R. Co., Western Union Tel. Co., etc. etc. etc. Clubs, Union, Knickerbocker, Metropolitan, etc. etc. etc. Home, 49 E. 8th st. For data about William Gibbs McAdoo, Sr., see "Who's Who" Vol VI. (1920-21.)

Mr. McAdoo was seen in the corridor of the ninth floor of the Security Building just as he stepped from the elevator. He talked freely.

There is a rumor about City Hall. Mr. McAdoo said that you intend to run for Mayor of Los Angeles.

Mr. McAdoo said there was nothing in the rumor—absolutely nothing.

Mr. McAdoo said he had an idea of how the rumor started, but he mentioned it in strictest confidence.

But do not print that. It is a mere suspicion.

William Gibbs McAdoo is an interesting personality. He was Secretary of the Treasury ("Who's Who" 1922). He was born at Marietta, Ga., Oct. 21, 1862, etc. m. Eleanor Randolph Wilson, etc.; wife, Mrs. Hudson, Manhattan Railroad Co., etc. dir.-gen. of railroads, Dec. 23, 1917; resigned as sec. of Treas. Dec. 1, 1918. Episcopalian. Office at 15 Chambers Pl., New York, N. Y. (Denied would run for Mayor of Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10, 1922.)

LAW DECREE TO BE GIVEN PADEREWSKI

The bestowal of a doctor of laws degree on Paderewski at the University of Southern California will be a musical event as well as a patriotic observance tomorrow morning. Grand-opera stars will take part in the program. The exercises will be held at 11 a.m. in Bovard Auditorium.

Allice Gentile, grand-opera star, will sing "Pleures, Pleures, Mes Yeux," from "Le Cid," by Maseenet, accompanied by Miss Elsa Deremaux at the piano.

Mme. Miura, grand-opera star, will sing a group of four songs, an aria from "Mme. Chrysantheum," and "Kuruka Kurukato," a popular Japanese song, which she will sing in Japanese. She will sing two compositions by Aldo Franchetti dedicated to herself, "Samurai," which she will sing in Japanese, and "Dile Tu Rose," in Italian. She will be accompanied by the composer himself.

Poet-Humorist Recommends Use of Golden Rule

Pasadena Day Observed by Advertising Club

Leon P. Shaw Says Eugene Debs Unfit for Freedom

"Twelve words spoken 2000 years ago, applied to modern conduct, would solve all the social, economic and governmental problems of the world—and those words are contained in the Golden Rule," declared James W. Foley, poet and humorist, in an address at the Pasadena day yesterday before the Advertising Club of Los Angeles.

It was Pasadena day and every prominent speaker, singer and musician was announced as a "wisard" of something or other by F. H. Guernsey, chairman of the meeting. Among the entertainers were Henri J. Van Praag, violinist, and his orchestra, and the Pasadena Elks' Quartet.

"Last year the Pasadena program here was featured by a map of the Crown City which covered the south wall of the ballroom, but Pasadena has grown so fast since

REVIEW RAIL STRIKE TIE-UP

Witnesses Tell of Attacks on Loyal Workers and Damage to Equipment at Hearing

The partial paralysis of passenger and freight traffic along the lines of the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Santa Fe Railways last July, as the result of the strike of the shopcrafts, was involved in the testimony of witnesses taken yesterday before Orville J. Taylor, special assistant to Atty.-Gen. Daugherty, who is collecting evidence to be used in behalf of the government, in the hearing of the motion to make permanent the temporary injunction issued out of the court of United States District Judge Wilkerson, in Chicago last summer.

The witnesses were John A. Christie, superintendent of the Santa Fe, who was chief witness against the strikers in Judge Bledsoe's court, last winter, but who has since been transferred from Needles to San Francisco; W. H. Comstock, general manager of the Union Pacific, with headquarters in Los Angeles, and Ross H. Hale, shop foreman of the Union Pacific at Caliente, who was set on by the strikers and badly injured.

The evidence showed the lack of shipping facilities growing out of the strike of the shopcrafts, and the consequent financial loss of the citrus fruit interests in Southern California; the loss in efficiency of the engines and rolling stock of the roads by reason of the fact that the experienced men in the shops were on strike; the question of police protection to the employees and the property of the railway companies, the hiring of guards to care for the interests of the lines and assist in the moving of the trains, with incidents of attacks and personal injuries suffered by the local men who remained on the job, at the hands of the strikers.

"There ain't no such animal. Honesty in business among honest men is as old as trade," speaking of the duty of the individual in governmental affairs, Mr. Foley said.

"Don't rail against the government if you find it is not all you would have it be, but help it to become a better day by day in every way."

Leon P. Shaw, a prominent Rotarian, spoke briefly on "Better Citizenship," saying the greatest menace to popular government was the parasite who used public office to serve his selfish purposes. The only remedy for him, said the speaker, was for each and every citizen to become a politician, a student of politics and government.

STREET CAR MEN WATCH MOTORISTS

Co-operative Arrangement With Police Department Made by Traffic Chief

An arrangement whereby street car men of Los Angeles will co-operate with the police department in furnishing numbers and necessary information when automobiles pass standing street cars in violation of the city ordinance was made yesterday when Capt. James McDowell, head of the police traffic and conductors of the yellow car system, met three members of the Traffic Department. The gathering was held at 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. in the company's recreation hall at Georgia and Third streets.

The cards for reporting traffic law violators will be compiled by police and railway officials and supplied to all trainmen.

The object of the three meetings was to develop close co-operation between street car men and the police department for the general benefit of traffic movement. Capt. McDowell outlined several points in which trainmen can assist the traffic movement and then answered various questions asked by motorists.

Chinese Wine of Great Merit Nears Gutter

A large quantity of Chinese wine, an exotic jade-colored fluid believed by oriental residents of Los Angeles to possess divine properties capable of appeasing the deity, will be destroyed by order of Prohibition Agent H. H. Doley, it was announced yesterday.

No more will the religious Chinese-American be able to invoke divine aid by the use of the wine. Formerly a Chinese could grind a green beetle, mix it with jade wine and, drinking the mixture, he sure he had brought hatred to the household of his enemy. To bring death, lizard tails and small alligators were put in the wine.

When love aimed at an undomestic youth, he would drink the wine after soaking in it the leaves of a Chinese flower, similar to the forget-me-not.

BIDS REJECTED

Fire House Proposals Declared too High; More Called for

All bids received for the first two fire houses of the total number of fourteen to be built under the $2,500,000 bond issue authorized by the voters in November were ordered rejected by the City Council, which directed that new bids should be asked for.

The Council said the bids were too high. The first two fire houses to be built are at the intersection of First and Chicago streets. Boyle Heights, and the abandoned Junction, Hollywood.

MORRIS, WHITE BACKING KYNE

Two Famous Authors Declare Indictment Just

War on Cinema Heads Taken Up From Monterey

Writer at Bay City Also in Sympathy With Attack

Gouverneur Morris and Stewart Edward White, noted writers who have themselves written for motion pictures, yesterday issued statements commending Peter B. Kyne for the "swan song" attack which Mr. Kyne made upon motion-picture producers here last week. In his attack Mr. Kyne said the motion-picture industry is not an art, but "a cannery." To this statement Mr. White adds: "Mr. Kyne is dead right."

At Monterey, where he now makes his home, Gouverneur Morris yesterday gave out a signed statement in which he said that he indorses everything Mr. Kyne said here last week, as reported in The Times.

"It is not a business; it is a cross between a cannery and a nightmare," Mr. Morris's signed statement declared, and then he adds in part:

"The producers themselves, with such glittering exceptions as Charles Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks and Buster Keaton, prove the truth of what Mr. Kyne says."

GIVES AN ANSWER

"Why didn't the novelists, trained story tellers and playwrights, who were called into the industry, make better pictures than the old-timers? Because the old-time directors and editors knew that if trained writers were given a fair chance their own day was over, and the plump salaries with it. So the trained writers, rational and economic, with dramatic motives for story telling, were fought at every turn by men firmly entrenched, and fighting for their economic lives."

"While the first picture makers are in control and have the power to pass upon all questions of construction, logic, drama and good taste, pictures will remain as they are today."

"The old men are dying off, however, and the younger men with better minds are taking their places. Time and a public which is beginning to clamor for good stories, well told in terms of the screen, will probably work the miracle."

"Out of the mess there has, however, emerged Charles Chaplin, the greatest creative genius since Kipling, and that makes up for a lot."

Mr. White, in his indorsement of Mr. Kyne's startling remarks, given out at San Francisco, said:

"In the main I think he is absolutely correct. Personally I have had very few unpleasant dealings with the picture people, but I have seen it work out with other people. The producers are usually good business men from the money standpoint."

"Artistic pictures are the exception rather than the rule. Once in a while there is one, but they are very few and far between. However, I do believe there is a future—a big future—for the motion pictures. Some day they will really come under the head of art, I think."

To Douglas Fairbanks is attributed a like sentiment. He is said to have denounced commercialism in the picture industry and announced that, with the United Artists, he is out to fight "canned movies."

ROACH BUYS STUDIO LAND

Producer to Spend $100,000 in Improving Ranch Near Culver City for Film Purposes

Ten acres on Armas Road, approximately one mile from his present studio at Culver City, were purchased by Hal Roach, and will be used immediately to provide for the growing production activities of the Roach organization.

The plot, which is located in the Rancho de Los Bueyes, was purchased from Dr. J. S. Huston, a retired Hollywood physician, who has held the land for more than twenty years. There are nearly thirty acres in the rancho, but the Roach purchase takes over the choice section of the land, with all the territory being well elevated.

At French handled the transaction for Mr. Roach. At an outlay of more than $100,000 Mr. Roach immediately will begin building one of the best equipped studio ranches on the West Coast. No dark stages are included in the present plans, but all the exterior for the seven Roach units which will be operating by the middle of March, will be erected on the Rancho de Los Bueyes.

The new Roach holdings will become the permanent home of the Our Gang Company, and within a few weeks this unit will be moved there. The entire Roach menagerie will be established on the ranch.

One of the first buildings will be a schoolroom where the members of the Our Gang troupe will be educated. Dressing rooms for the youngsters also will be erected.

FAMED EUROPEAN DIRECTOR COMING

Victor Seastrom

Victor Seastrom will arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow afternoon. For several weeks the motion-picture colony has eagerly awaited the coming of the far-famed European actor-director.

Seastrom left Sweden several weeks ago, immediately after accepting Goldwyn's offer, but tarried a while in New York. Every day at the Goldwyn studio at Culver City word has been anxiously awaited as to his date of departure for Los Angeles, as the Goldwyn organization is negotiating for several great literary works—one of which is to be considered by Mr. Seastrom for his initial production in America.

Acclaimed by Ernest Lubitch as one of the most significant figures in European cinematography, and his "The Stride of Midnight," pronounced as "the greatest motion picture I have ever seen" by Charles Chaplin, Seastrom's coming is expected to introduce a note of immense power, surge and flame into the photodrama.

He will be met at the train by a representative group of screen artists and officials, and welcomed into the intense screen activity at Goldwyn's.

Along with Lubitch, Pola Negri, Sven Gade, Von Stroheim and other continental, he is expected to introduce a note of immense power, surge and flame into the photodrama.

THALBERG ANNOUNCES LARGE
FILMS FOR MAY

By Grace Kingsley

Having taken possession of his handsome new office at the Louis

B. Mayer Studios, where he is installed as vice-president, Irving G.

Thalberg yesterday made some announcements as to the plans of

Louis B. Mayer, Inc., the company with which he has just become identified.

"We are planning to do some very big things," said Mr. Thalberg.

"and we are consequently expanding, improving and building up our studio facilities in every way. A new stage is being built, and new dressing-rooms will be erected. We are buying new plays and stories,

and are also adding two new directors.

"One of these we announced yesterday. He is W. S. Van Dyke.

"The other's name will be ready to give to the public in a day or two. He is one of the most successful directors in the business.

"We shall also engage noted players from time to time.

"We shall make no change in our production policy, which is proving successful. Mr. Mayer's idea of putting first-class actors in first-class stories, with first-class directors, will be continued."

Among the new productions on which work is shortly to commence is "The Law-Bringers," by G. B.

Lancaster, which Reginald Barker will direct. Earle Williams will play one of the leading male roles,

and Rene Adore, recently signed on a long-term contract, will also have a leading part.

Following "The Law-Bringers," Barker is to have the chance to make what promises to be the biggest picture of his career.

This will be a film version of "The Trail of '98," by Robert W. Service. This is an epic of the North, such as only Reginald Barker knows how to make, according to Mr. Thalberg.

All sorts of preparations are under way already.

Monte Katterjohn, who is writing the continuity, is doing endless research work in the preparation, is consulting old Alaskan maps,

with the idea of producing perfection of detail in consonance with the worth of the story. "The Dangerous Age" is meeting with great success everywhere, is preparing to direct "Daughters of the Rich," and will announce the cast in a few days. Later he is to make

Avery Hopwood's "Why Men Leave Home," adapting it from Hop-wood's new and successful play.

Fred Niblo is preparing on "Captain Applejack," a dashing, colorful romance.

W. S. Van Dyke is getting ready to begin "The Span of Life," as a big special production.

Other stories which are to be made into specials are "Cape Cod

Folks," "The Volunteer Sergeant," and "Albert Payson Terhune's 'A Hero."

JUVENILE CHOSEN

BUT LASKY'S CAN'T FIND
MURRY FOR EIGHT WIVES

By Edwin Schallert

"Bluebeard" still puzzles, the elect. They can't make up their mind whether he ought to be fat and 40, or slim and 15. He has to look old enough to have had seven wives, and sufficiently young to make a successful plea to number eight.

Our "Bluebeard," of course, is the character, in the film version of "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," which Famous Players-Lasky is casting here. The studio scouts have scanned all parts of the film horizon and find no stellar candidate for the famous harem. They are still eyeing the thickets and coppes on the outer edge of Hollywood in the hope of locating a young steed, who may be harnessed seven times and like the experience well enough to amuse an eight marital adventure—at least in the play.

Meanwhile decision has been reached that Robert Agnew shall assume the juvenile lead. This is something accomplished.

For young Mr. Agnew, in fact,
is a great deal accomplished because along with this juvenile lead has come to him a five-year

Paramount contract, regarded as something of a coup when one is young and hopeful. And Agnew is both.

He has meted to the top, one may say. His first becoming interested in picture work about four years ago in San Antonio, Tex.,

where production was being carried on in a small way. Later he taunted in vaudeville with a sketch called "Children of France." Finishing in New York, he returned to motion pictures and has succeeded ever since.

Agnew's first work in Hollywood was in juvenile leading roles with a Norma Talmadge company. More recently he has appeared in

"Clarence" and "The Prodigal Daughters." So favorably did he impress the executives of the company in these two pictures that they decided to sign him permanently. He was too young to play

"Bluebeard," but amply qualified for the comedy role of a semi-

wise youth, who provides some of the more spontaneous romantic interest.

GOLDWYN PURCHASES
NOTABLE STAGE PLAY

The motion-picture rights for
"R. U. R.," one of the first of the foreign plays to astonish and then intrigue the New York theater-

goer, have been taken over by the Goldwyn Film Company. It was written by Karel Capek, a young Czechoslovakian, who with his brother is also the author of "The World As I See It," originally

called "The Insect Comedy."

"R. U. R." stands for "Rossum's

ing automata. The play is a satire

for the comedy role of a semi-

wise youth, who provides some of the more spontaneous romantic interest.

GOLDWYN PURCHASES
NOTABLE STAGE PLAY

The motion-picture rights for
"R. U. R.," one of the first of the foreign plays to astonish and then

intrigue the New York theater-

goer, have been taken over by the Goldwyn Film Company. It was

written by Karel Capek, a young Czechoslovakian, who with his

brother is also the author of "The World As I See It," originally

called "The Insect Comedy."

"R. U. R." stands for "Rossum's Universal Robots," said Robots being automata. The play is a satire on the mechanical tendencies of the age, and is concerned with the powers and activities of the Robots.

The image shows a close-up of two open books, possibly a Bible or a historical manuscript. The pages are filled with dense, handwritten text in a cursive script. The text is arranged in columns, with some lines appearing to be part of a list or index. The paper is aged and slightly yellowed. The focus is on the text, which is somewhat blurry due to the close-up and the angle of the shot.

The image shows a close-up of a book's endpaper, which appears to be a memorial or a list of names. The text is arranged in a grid-like pattern, with names and dates printed in a serif font. The paper is aged and slightly discolored. The text is partially obscured by the binding of the book, which is visible on the left side. The names are listed in columns, and some dates are visible at the bottom of the columns. The overall appearance is that of a historical document or a commemorative page.

The image shows two pages of an antique manuscript. The paper is dark, brownish-black with significant staining and foxing. The handwriting is in a cursive script, possibly from the 16th or 17th century. The text is arranged in two columns per page. The left page has some words that are partially obscured by the binding. The right page shows more legible text, including what appears to be a list or index of names and titles. The overall condition is poor, suggesting the book is very old and has been handled extensively.

HARBOR BOARD AT WAR AGAIN

Commissioners Break Loose With Word Barrage

Barge Repairs Are Start of Verbal Conflict

Then TNT Cargo is Basis for Another Explosion

War in the Harbor Commission, after a truce of several months, broke out again yesterday during the meeting at Los Angeles Harbor. Chairman Edgar McKee held the fort while Commissioners O. B. Kibele and Charles Richards launched a well-timed barrage of sarcasm and airy periphrases at the head of the table. Mr. McKee was scolded unmercifully at times. From the start the meeting was surcharged with an air of expectancy. Everyone felt that something was about to drop.

Mr. McKee fired the opening gun when a bill of $1004.10 for the repair of a barge was brought up. He charged that the job had been awarded to a certain shipyard without giving other concerns at the port an opportunity to bid for the work, which he pointed out was a violation of the city charter. Commissioner Richards said the proceeding was not illegal and Mr. McKee said it was. They both talked in heated fashion until Commissioner Kibele addressed Mr. McKee with: "You seem to think you are an expert at this sort of thing. Since you think you are such an expert suppose you tell us what we should have done."

Mr. McKee replied that it was unlawful to grant jobs costing more than $100 without open bidding. Mr. Kibele said it was not, under the circumstances, and asked City Attorney Clyde Leach for his opinion. Mr. Leach replied that to his mind the proceedings were in violation of the city charter and that other concerns should have had a chance to bid on the repairs to the barge. To which Mr. McKee said that "perhaps it would be just as well not to have anything in the newspapers about it."

Mr. McKee suggested to his brother members that they accept the bill if they thought it was legal. The bill was not ordered paid.

The entire meeting was a series of heated discussions. Harbor Engineer J. W. Ludlow advised the construction of a new five-story cotton warehouse to accommodate the great increase of cotton exports from the Imperial Valley. Mr. McKee also advocated its construction.

"We have either got to get a 'black eye' as a port," he said, "or else go ahead. We can't have cotton scattered all over the ground when the rains begin next fall."

Mr. McKee favored the request of L. A. Donnelly, representing the Union Oil Company, when he asked permission to use an oil bunkering pipe line which his firm had constructed to the Pacific Steamship terminal. But Mr. Donnelly was informed the Union Oil had violated a port ruling in building the pipe line and could not use it. Commissioners Kibele and Richards thought differently and Mr. Bennett was informed he could not berth his TNT ship at Los Angeles Harbor.

The proposed charter provided for a city manager form of government. The bond propositions totaled $1,500,000, of which $100,000 was for sewers, $150,000 for a municipal auditorium, parking pier and civic center, $100,000 for a light and power plant, $100,000 for the extension of Windward avenue, $150,000 for the construction of a municipal harbor, and $150,000 for a municipal water system.

The ordinance would regulate the use of publicly owned beach.

SECO ORDINANCE IS VETOED

Mayor Voices Disapproval of Making Industrial District in Arroyo, Near Pasadena Line

Mayor Cryer late yesterday sent a message to the City Council vetoing the ordinance recently enacted by a divided vote placing thirty-five acres of land in the Arroyo Seco, near the Pasadena city line, in an industrial district so that rock crushers could operate there for eighteen months.

While the Mayor is strongly in favor of the improvement of the arroyo and is hopeful that steps will be taken to control the flood waters there and to beautify the section, he said yesterday that he is strongly opposed to the ordinance recently enacted which would throw a large section of the arroyo open for industrial purposes, whereas it is now restricted for residential purposes.

The ordinance vetoed by the Mayor was strongly opposed by Councilmen Conaway, Mallard, Musket and Sparks, who have fought the legalizing of commercial rock crushing operations and who vote from the opposite side so as to secure votes enough to enact the ordinance over the Mayor's disapproval.

The Mayor's veto message, which was filed late yesterday, will be read to the City Council this morning.

Indorse Plans for Solving of City's Traffic

Unanimous indorsement of the activities of the Los Angeles Development League in seeking a solution of the traffic problem confronting the city, discussion of tentative plans for an extensive advertising campaign and the voicing of a plea for transportation that would have a direct connection with Hollywood were among the moves of the Larchmont Business Men's Association at its meeting last night.

H. F. Hughes presided. B. Y. Taft of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, and Max Hammel, acting manager of the Los Angeles Development League, gave talks on the transportation situation. Mr. Hammel said the league is investigating the three passenger-carrying plans now being generally discussed—the Los Angeles Railway Company plan to supplement its present rail system with buses, the McCulloch-Hellman proposition to install a 10-cent fare bus system, and the idea of a municipally owned system.

Plans to advertise the fact that Larchmont Boulevard is a 100-foot highway forming the only business district west of Western avenue between Melrose avenue and Eleventh street, were advanced by Miss Victor of the Larchmont Theater.

Boxing contests followed prize fights into the limbo of lost arts in Los Angeles county yesterday afternoon, when the Board of Supervisors handed down a ruling that fistic encounters even under the most polite auspices should not be permitted anywhere in the county outside any incorporated city limits.

The State law prohibits prize fights but the Long Beach City Council recently passed an ordinance prohibiting the boxing contest. The Supervisors yesterday decided that Long Beach has decided to bar such affairs, the whole county will follow the example. It was explained that such contests will be prohibited even for benefit performances.

Supervisors Bar Fistic Encounters in the County Outside of Corporations

MAY REOPEN INQUIRY INTO HODGES'S DEATH

FATHER OF GIRL HARPIST NOT SATISFIED WITH FINDINGS MADE

As a sequel to the death by poison of pretty Rhode Hodges on night of the 11th inst., Arthur Hodges of Boise, Idaho father of the dead girl, announced that he would have inquiry into the cause of the death reopened, according to dispatches received last night. The first theory of the police was that the girl had not with food play and had been poisoned with chocolate candy, a box of which was found in the apartment. Further mystery was lent to the case by the discovery of bruises on the young woman's body.

Postmortem examination dispelled the first theory, the findings of the autopsy showing that death was caused by a combination of acute indigestion and carbon monoxide gas, from a gas stove in the room occupied by the girl and her mother, Mrs. Stella Hodges, mother of the girl, stated that bruises had been sustained by a fall from the couch a few days previous.

Not satisfied with these findings, Mr. Hodges intends to have the investigation resumed. When questioned last night, the police stated that they had received no instructions on the subject.

ASKS LARGER GAS-HOLDER

On account of the increase in population of the city and the consequent demand for gas, the Southern California Gas Company yesterday asked the City Council for permission to build at the intersection of McPherson street and Santa Fe avenue, in the east side industrial district, a gas holder not to exceed 250 feet in height. Originally, the company obtained a permit to build on this location a 150-foot gas holder, but a larger one is necessary, the company said.
